

Park Street Church

Boston, Massachusetts

PARK STREET CHURCH
Boston, Massachusetts

Built in 1809 this church was the site of William Lloyd Garrison's first anti-slavery address and the first singing of 'America.' Bostonians call this the 'Brimstone Corner' because gunpowder was stored here during the war of 1812.

The small structure is the entrance to America's first Subway and the trees mark the corner of Boston Common, the first public park in America.

© Published by Klein Post Card Service, 134 Summer St., Hyde Park, MA. 02136

Printed in Italy

K-3

POST CARD

Photo by Dino Sassi

KINA, Milan, Italy